- Allow children time to break down unfamiliar words into units of sound and then encourage children to string these sounds together to create the word.
- Encourage your child to point out any focus phonics when they are used.
- Read through the book more than once to grow confidence.
- Ask simple questions about the text to assess understanding.
- Encourage children to use illustrations as prompts.

The Buzz Box

Jazz and Zak liked exploring. Mum and Dad took them to look for things in the sand.

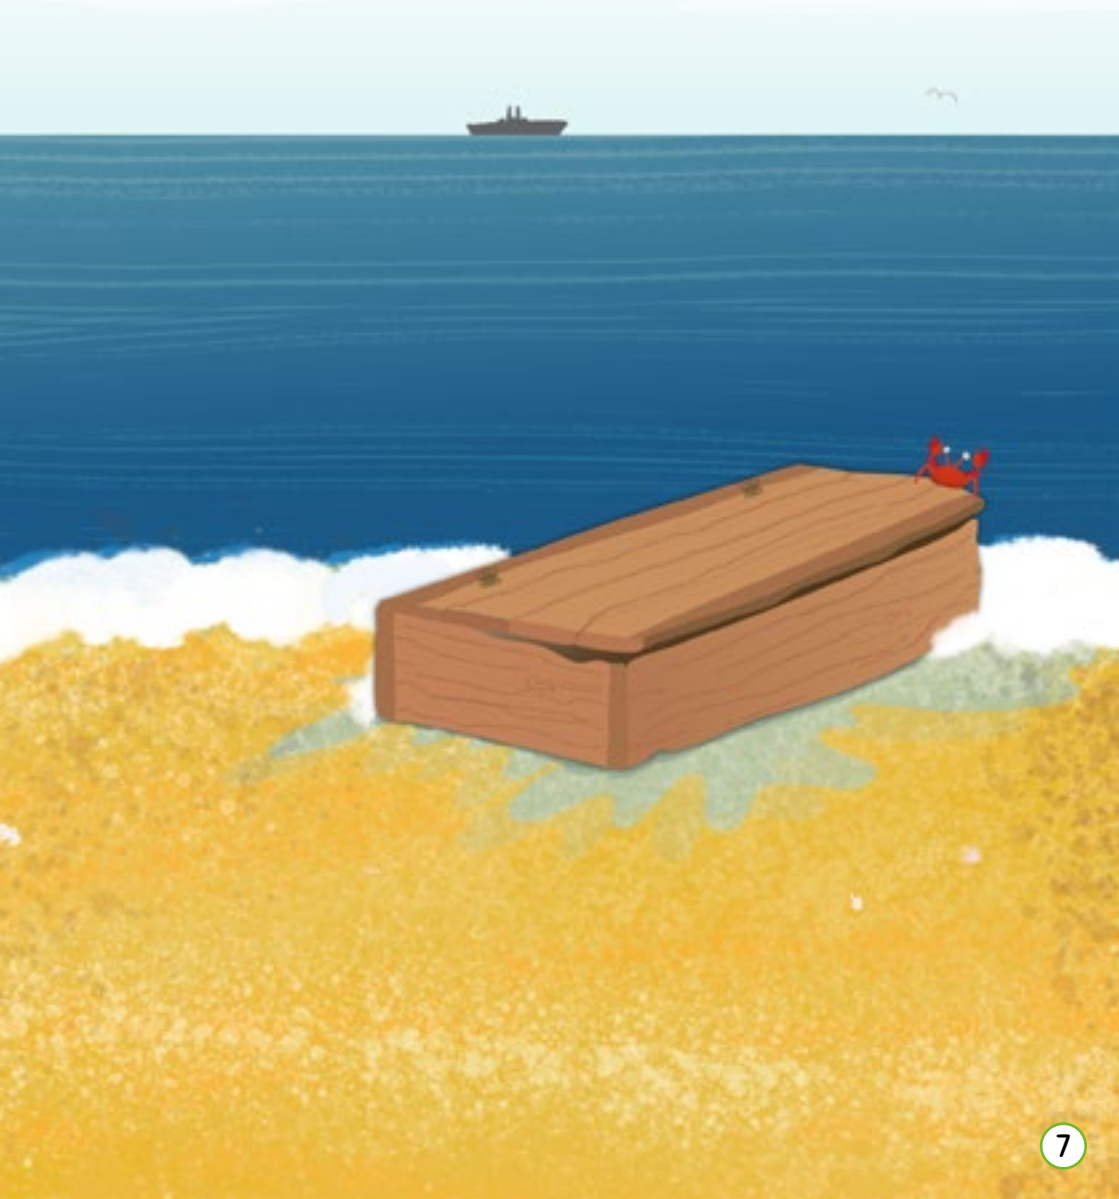

Jazz picked up a shell. Mum picked up a coin. Dad picked up a lunchbox. Zak got pinched!

Zak saw a big box. He wanted the box to be part of his fort.

“It’s just a box,” said Dad.
“But it will fix the gap in my fort,” said Zak.

Mum and Dad let him bring the box back. It was perfect. Zak put on his pink wig to play 'Attack of the Bears'.

“Oh no! They are too strong! Get back!” yelled Zak. He jumped into the big box.

It was dark in the box. All of a sudden, the box started to buzz. Zak panicked.

When it stopped, he pushed the lid a bit.
He could see a cool room with a painting of a fox on the wall.

Zak went to look about. The clock struck six, but he'd been playing in his fort after lunch. Where was he?

Someone was coming. Zak hid. The smell of chicken whizzed across the room.

There were no good exits. Zak ran for it, grabbing a chicken leg on the way.

He jumped into the box and pulled the lid shut. The box buzzed.

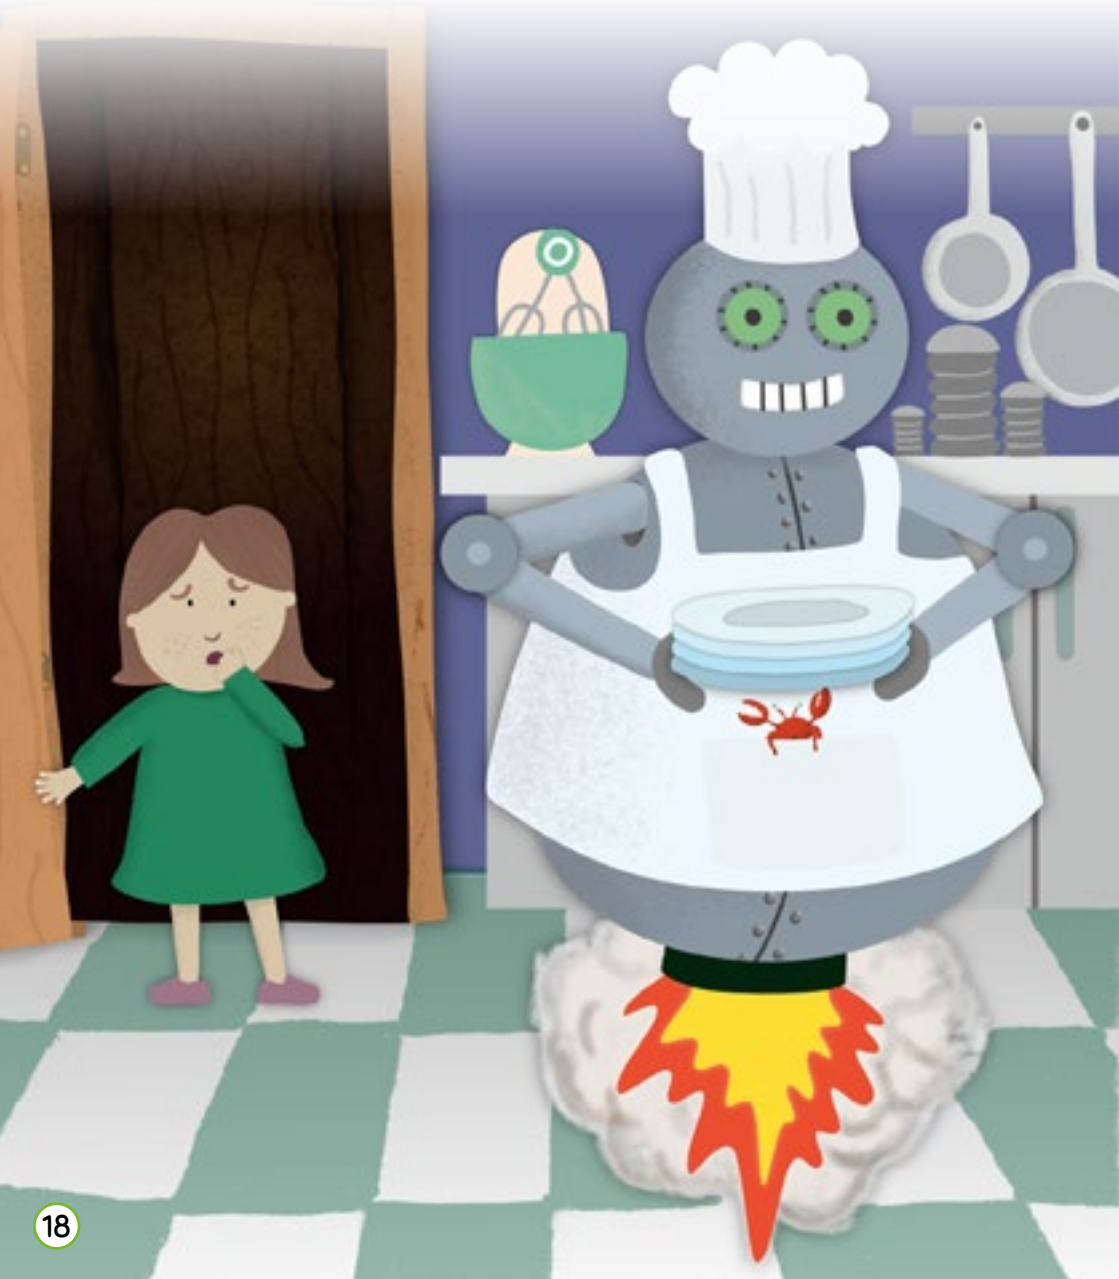

Zak opened the box and he was back in his bedroom. "Best fort ever!" he yelled. "Jazz!"

“Come and stand in my buzzing box! I call it the Buzz Box,” he said. Jazz got in.

The box went 'BUZZ'. Jazz stepped out into a kitchen. It was all silver and metallic. A bot whizzed past.

Jazz backed away and bumped a button.
Mixers started to mix and pans started to pop.

The mess was too much to fix. Plus, the bots seemed upset now. She jumped in the box. BUZZ!

“Did you eat the chicken?” asked Zak.
“The bots didn’t have chicken,” said Jazz.
“Bots? Where did you go?” yelled Zak.

Mum and Dad needed to see. They stepped in. BUZZ! "Zing, zorb, zap!" Something was near the box.

Mum and Dad pushed open the lid. They were not on the right planet. Dad felt ill.

Mum and Dad jumped back into the box and buzzed back to the right planet.

Zak, Jazz, Mum and Dad kept buzzing.
They tripped up a queen in a gown and ended up in an odd zoo.

Things were getting out of hand. It was time to put the box back where they got it from.

Zak was sad to see the Buzz Box go.
“Can we come back one day?” he asked.
“Maybe,” said Mum.

BUZZ!

“Did the box just buzz?” asked Dad.

“I think so,” said Jazz. “But that means someone is in it...”

The Buzz Box

1. What did Mum pick up on the beach?
2. What did Zak grab as he ran back to the Buzz Box?
3. What did Jazz accidentally knock into?
 - (a) Another child
 - (b) A bot
 - (c) A button
4. Why do you think Dad felt ill when he looked out of the Buzz Box and saw he was on the wrong planet?
5. If you could take a turn in the Buzz Box where would you like to go? Would you have put it back where you found it like the family did?
